BATTLE GOES

Russians Fighting Desperately to Avert Disaster.

LONDON, Oct. 15 .- For a week what is described by one writer after another as the greatest battle of modern times has been waged near Yental and the end is not yet. But seven days of flerce, stubborn fighting has resulted in what none disputes to be at St. Petersburg says it is not considered complete disaster to Russia's great army. Not even in St. Petersburg is there any real attempt to disguise the obvious fact, which is fully recognized throughout Eu-

There are two views held in regard to the motive force behind Gen. Kuropatkin when at last he took the offensive on Oct. 8. Some declare that he acted on strict orders from St. Petersburg to attack as soon as the last reenforcements arrived at Mukden, the object being a desperate effort to relieve Port Arthur, whose speedy fall is again expected. Others hold that Gen. Kuropatkin attacked because he was obliged to, because he found that if he did not he would be enveloped by the Japanese armies, which were gradually creeping around his flanks.

But whatever was hoped for, Gen. Kuropatkin's position is now serious. If the morale of his army has been destroyed, as it well may have been, escape from the Japanese armies now gathering around him seems almost impossible, unless, which is inconceivable, the Japanese themselves are so exhausted that they are unable to push their victory to the uttermost end. But speculation on this point is useless. Time, and not long, will alone show the exact extent of Russia's disaster

Meanwhile even more important, more interesting and more difficult to diagnose is the actual internal situation of European Russia. Events of a deep, if mysterious, significance are occurring at St. Petersburg. The Grand Dukes have retired to their country estates and M. de Witte, form r Minister of Finance and later Prestdent of the Ministerial Council, announces letter recently printed in The Sun on the that he will return next week. This, ac- | condition of Russia may again be concording to The Sun's St. Petersburg cor- sulted. The events recorded since that was respondent, was completely unexpected written serve further to illustrate the views and is being widely discussed.

"His Imperial Highness Prince Kanin is now fighting on the left bank of the Tatzeho at a point seven miles east of Pensihu. Our attack and advance are progressing satisfactorily throughout the whole front. Our left army captured ten more guns.'

"Further report from Marshal Oyama is as follows:

"Throughout the entire front of all our armies the enemy was driven back to the right bank of the Shabo, thus fundamental ly destroying the enemy's plan of attack. The casualties of the enemy are estimated at over 30,000. The corpses which were buried by our men on Thursday exceeded 2,000. The trophies consist of a large number of rifles, ammunition, cars, &c., besides the guns already reported."

JAPANESE CAPTURES.

Torio, Oct. 15-Evening.-A despatch to the Jiji says that the Japanese have driven the Russian right wing back to the Sha River, north of Shahopao, capturing a large amount of arms and provisions. The Russian casualties are estimated at 30,000 men, of whom 2,000 have been left on the field

Revolutionary Circular Put Out in St. Petersburg After Yental Defeat.

Special Cable Despatches to THE SUN. VIENNA. Oct. 15 .- A few hours after the first news of the disaster at Yental a revolutionary broadsheet was circulated in St. Petersburg. Under the heading "Who is Guilty?" it said:

"The murderers of Russian liberty hope vainly to escape God's punishment. A people degraded into slavery cannot do heroic deeds for their oppressors. Double and treble the army, and yet you will succumb. Gen. Kuropatkin is not guilty, but the system of corruption that is dwelling in the Czar's palaces.

LONDON, Oct. 15 .- In connection with the above despatch from Vienna may be taken a sentence in a letter from the Times's Paris correspondent, who sometimes has good information outside of his own particular department. He says: "Unless all information received from trustworthy sources in Russia is wrong, a domestic crisis of some kind is rapidly maturing. Indeed, according to some people, it is comparatively close at hand.

"It will be noticed that no one mentions or even hints," says the Spectator, "at the kind of crisis that is to be expected. Is it a popular revolt, a military mutiny or a palace revolution?"

Originality finds expression in the conception of an idea, cleverness in its application. Our collection of exclusive garments for formal service demonstrates this most forcibly. It includes costumes and demitoilettes for evening, theatre, reception and house wear, and coats of rich laces or cloths for the opera and kindred formal functions in imported models and adaptations of them. To invest them with that subtle something termed style the master designers have spent the full power of their genius.
